Flood Victims Cry for Help

URGENT APPEAL FROM SUFFERERS HERE'S A CHANCE LOCAL RHODEANS CABLE APPEAL FOR FREEDOM TO SIR EDWARD GREY

MAYOR O'DONNELL CALLS ON CITIZENS TO CONTRIBUTE TOWARD RELIEF OF THE FAMINE STRICKEN PEOPLE

An urgent appeal for assistance from the flood sufferers in Dayton, Ohio, has reached Lowell, and Mayor O'Donnell has called upon the citizens of this city to contribute their mite toward the relief of the famine stricken people of the west.

In Dayton great destruction has been caused by fires as well as floods, and what was an important section from north to south, described as between First and Sixth streets, and from east to west between St. Clair street to Ludlow, is a mass of ruins, destroyed by fire. Thousands are homeless and the situation is terrible.

The appeal from Dayton reached Mayor O'Donnell last night and he started the subscription today by a personal contribution of $25. The following telegram constitutes the appeal of the sufferers:

Dayton, O., April 2, 1913.
The Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.
Situation in Dayton appalling. Financial help urgently needed at once to feed and clothe and re-establish our people in their homes. Thousands of homes have been entirely destroyed. Sanitary problem very serious and will involve great expense. We are compelled to feed the entire population as the supplies of our local grocers are practically exhausted. Send remittances to W. F. Bippus, secretary treasurer Dayton Citizen relief committee.

(Signed) John H. Patterson,
Chairman of Dayton Citizens Relief Committee.

The Mayor's Appeal
Messrs. George E. King of the Appleton National bank, and Charles E. Goulding, of the Wamesit National bank, have kindly consented to act as treasurers of the relief fund and contributions may be made to them at their respective banks. The mayor's appeal to the public of Lowell was issued at his office this forenoon and is as follows:

To the Public:
The chaotic conditions immediately following the recent flood in the middle west having been partially cleared by a systematic investigation as to the extent of the damage done, it now appears that while the loss of life in the disaster has not been as great as was at first estimated, the amount of suffering left in the wake of the flood is enormous and pitiable beyond description. Thousands are homeless, penniless and without proper sustenance and under the circumstances, must depend upon the charity of the community for assistance.
Therefore, in response to an appeal from the Dayton citizen relief committee I take this means of calling upon the citizens of Lowell to contribute their mite toward the relief of the sufferers of that city and vicinity, feeling confident that were the conditions

reversed Lowell would not be obliged to appeal in vain.
It gives me pleasure to head the list with my personal contribution, hoping that this appeal will meet with a generous response.

Messrs. George E. King of the Appleton National bank, and Charles E. Goulding, of the Wamesit National bank, have kindly consented to act as treasurers of the relief fund and contributions may be made to them at their respective banks.
(Signed) James E. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

Theatre Managers to Help
Performances for the benefit of the flood sufferers will be held at the Opera House, Playhouse, Keith's theatre, and the Merrimack Square theatre. The mayor requested the management of these four theatres to give a performance for the benefit of the flood sufferers in Dayton, O., and vicinity, and they all agreed to do so, without hesitation. It will be arranged so that no two performances will be given on the same day. All of the dates have not yet been set. The Opera House will probably give the first performance and that may come as early as tomorrow night. Managers Carroll of the Merrimack Square theatre, called at the Sun office this noon and stated that he had arranged to give a show at his theatre next Wednesday at 12 m. "I will give a full vaudeville performance, moving pictures and all," said Mr. Carroll, "and the gross receipts will go toward the relief of the flood and fire sufferers."

COWBOY WANTS LOWELL GIRL FOR WIFE

Asks Mayor O'Donnell to Help Him Out

SAYS HE IS POOR AND WANTS RICH MATE

She Must Be Fairly Good Looking, Have Money, Home Loving and Sensible—That's All

Mayor O'Donnell received a second appeal from the flooded district today. The first was an appeal from the flood sufferers and that appeal, undoubtedly, will meet with hearty and generous response.

The second is an individual appeal and while the writer is lying in the land of flood and famine he has the temerity to ask some "fairly good looking" Lowell girl to share his fate.

She must have money, too. It is generally conceded that there is a goodly number of girls in Lowell who are willing and some, perhaps, a bit anxious to get married. It is also a well known fact that there is a number of young men and bachelors who ought to get married and if they do take the notion it's the day's best bet that they will see to it that fairly good looking girls with money will not get away from Lowell.

Upon receiving a copy of the cowboy's letter from the mayor, the city hall reporter for the Sun allowed some of the girls to read it—girls that he thinks are a little better than fairly good looking and who are supposed to have money. Well, what these girls didn't say about the temerity of that cowboy was little. They allowed that a fellow so hard up for a wife as to have to advertise for one had "a gall" to say anything about her looks or her financial condition. "Pooh-pooh, to him," they said.

The cowboy tells the mayor in his letter that he doesn't want a girl who is a mere hat and clothes rack, and when one of the girls took note of this expression she hunched her little shoulders and scanned her clenched fist with an eye of fire. "Think of it," she said, "Isn't he the limit? I'll bet that the girl who takes a chance with him will be a mere hat and clothes rack before many moons. He says he has a college education, but one would never infer that much from his letter. He's some big good-for-nothing who is down and out and wants a fairly good looking girl with money to support him. I am going to ask the mayor to send him a rattie and a bottle of Weller's food."

The westerner's letter, though dated March 25, did not reach the mayor's office until today and there's a bare possibility that the cowboy writer may have gone out with the flood in the interim. The letter:
March 25, 1913.
Mr. Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Sir: I am what you easterners call a "cowboy." I am not a desperado, but I do come from the "cow country" or the west.

I am looking for an eastern girl for a wife. I don't want a mere hat and clothes rack. I want a good, home loving, sensible girl. "She" must be fairly good looking and have money.

I write you thinking that for the sake of one of my ancestors, James Russell Lowell, you will lend him a hand. I am a sober-minded young fellow, college education, no bad habits, and can give references as to character. I am poor, so I want a rich wife.

If you know of such a girl I would like if you would send her this, or publish this in your local papers.

I am sincere and this is perfectly legitimate. I can't see why you shouldn't do it. I have said enough. Will you do it? Please let me know as soon as possible what to depend upon.

I am, yours respectfully,
F. Ben Coburn,

In Freeing Their Island Home From the Turkish Yoke---2000 Are Ready to Die for Liberty

The Greek residents in this country who claim the Island of Rhodes as their fatherland have made a strong appeal to Sir Edward Grey, secretary of foreign affairs to England, in behalf of Rhodes, begging that he may favor the proposition to deliver it from Turkish oppression and place it under the flag and the government of Greece.

Last night the local natives of Rhodes sent a long cablegram to Sir Edward Grey in behalf of the 2000 Rhodians in this country and offering if need be, to sacrifice their lives to secure the liberty of their native island.

The Cablegram

The cablegram is as follows:
To Sir Edward Grey,
Secretary Foreign Affairs, London.

Our nation and dear mother is

Greece. Our dream and endeavor, since our fatherland Island of Rhodes fell under the heinous Turkish yoke, and as long as this world shall exist, is that it shall be under the Greek flag and government.

Any attempt against our national and holy sentiment will endanger the local peace of our country and we, the 2000 native sons of Rhodes, residing in the United States of America, are determined by quick return home to show to the world how we will sacrifice our lives for our country.

Summers of leaving us still enslaved or otherwise alienated from our mother, Greece, (it seems incredible to say, urge us to appeal to your excellency, secretary of foreign affairs of your most liberty loving and great nation, and through you to the ambassadors of the great powers in the London conference, to give our fatherland

just consideration and grant to its purely Greek population their just rights: a people who, peacefully and lawfully are struggling for their liberty, the greatest divine gift to the world.

Sir, be our advocate in this supreme moment and receive kindly, you and your ambassadors, our heartfelt thanks.

Respectfully,

300 STRIKE PICKETS PARADE Little Disorder Attended Opening of the Draper Shops Today—Police Guard Mill

HOPEDALE, April 3.—Very little disorder attended today's opening of the shops of the Draper Co., where a strike of foundry workers has been in progress since Tuesday.

A band of 300 strike pickets, led by Joseph M. Goldwell, of Worcester, candidate of the socialist party for state treasurer at the November election, paraded up and down the sidewalks in front of the shops for two hours this morning. The pickets marched in pairs and made no effort to prevent anyone from going to work.

Goldwell kept repeating loudly: "There is a strike in the Draper mills. All strikers are asked not to go to work."

The police guarding the mills did not interfere with the pickets.

The only disturbance occurred in Milford, about three miles from the Draper mills when the police dispersed a crowd of about 100 strikers and sympathizers who had attempted to stop a street car filled with employees of the Draper Co. Most of the strikers scattered at the command of the officers but a few made some resistance. No clubs were used either by police or strikers.

Every street car between Milford and Hopedale carried at least one policeman and some were guarded by six or eight officers. Other police patrolled the streets of Hopedale in automobiles and the automobile fire truck was also utilized as a police vehicle.

This is it that the finding of human remains leads one back through history and tradition, and the theory that the skull and bones are those of one of the Indians is perhaps the most profitable of all which have been advanced.

Tradition tells us, said Judge Hadley, further, that at one time on a hill near the car-barn, which was known as "Fox Hill" formed the location of a sort of pest house and that those who died there of smallpox and other such diseases were buried close by. It may be that the man whose skull was discovered this morning may have been a victim of disease in this pest house, which is merely a tradition, and of the existence of which there appears to be no real evidence.

The Judge stated that in his opinion, the Indian theory is the more probable of the two, especially so when one takes into consideration the fact that in burying their dead, the people at the pest house, if there was one, would not go so great a distance away from the hill.

For O'Donovan Rossa

The Irish people of Lawrence are to give a testimonial entertainment in aid of invalid J. O'Donovan Rossa, and Mayor O'Donnell has received an invitation from Mayor Scanlon to attend. The entertainment will be held Sunday evening at the city hall.

REMAINS OF HUMAN BODY FOUND In Excavating for New Car Barn—Probably That of an Indian Says Judge Hadley

A human skull and several bones which apparently once went to form the limbs of a human being, was discovered this morning at the site of the new car barn in Middlesex street by Mr. Moffatt, who is in charge of the construction. The find was made during the process of making the excavation for the foundation of the new structure.

The bringing to light of these remains naturally forms the subject matter for a great deal of discussion and speculation as to the identity and period of existence of the person on whose shoulders the skull once rested. One theory and that which bears the greatest probability is, that the skull and bones are the remains of the skeleton of one of the Indians who, history tells us, inhabited that district centuries ago. Following this theory, the reader is led back through the early history of the country, meeting many interesting traditions that arise only in the case of such a discovery.

Bones of Indian.

In this connection the writer called upon Judge Hadley, who is well known as an authority in matters of local history, and he expressed the opinion that the bones belonged to one of the Indians, perhaps of the Pawtucket tribe. That district known as Middlesex Village, and in fact for a considerable distance further up the valley of the Merrimack river, was, once known as the John Sagamore plantation, called so after the Indian chief,

John Sagamore, who is said to have governed some of the tribes centuries ago. This is borne out by the history and traditions which come to us from the early English settlers. The Indians occupied the land for a long time and afterwards disposed of it to the whites and departed, probably westward.

Discoveries similar to that made this morning by Mr. Moffatt, said the Judge, have not been uncommon and there have been many remains of human beings found in this district formerly inhabited by the Pawtucket and Wamesit tribes. On one occasion, Judge Hadley went up the river bank with his father and saw the latter poke from the ground a human skull. A friend of Dr. Charles Wood of this city on one occasion found the entire grave and body of an Indian woman there. Such Indian implements of war as arrow heads, tomahawks, etc. have been found in many instances where excavations were being made and even very close to the surface of the land, where there were no excavations.

Judge Hadley said that the entire district in the vicinity of the site of the new car barn has such a history. The Indians, perhaps three hundred years ago, used to fish at the Pawtucket falls and this location on the river was well known as one of the best fishing grounds. At the site of the present Shaw mill, there was once an English fort, the evidences of which a few years ago had not been totally destroyed. Indeed, relics of the old settlers who first broke the land have been found quite frequently along the river and the Judge himself has been

ATTORNEYS HAD LIVELY TILT In Police Court This Morning—Man Who Jumped Into Canal Sent to Jail—Other Cases

Aleck Chernowsky and Annie Malinowsky were the cause of some very spicy arguments between Attorneys O'Connor and Donahue for the prosecution and Attorney Murphy for the defense. The two were charged with a statutory offense and the complainant was the woman's husband, Anton. The woman was already on probation for bigamy.

From the evidence that was forthcoming it seems that the complainant and the woman in the case were married in Warsaw, Poland, sixteen years ago. The marriage certificate was shown to the judge. The husband has not lived with his wife for more than a few months since their immigration into this country nine years ago. The defense attempted to prove that there were no wrong intentions displayed in the actions of the two defendants but rather misguiding, ignorant notions regarding our marriage laws. The prosecution based their case on the fact that both had been accused on this charge before and knew what they were doing. In view of the fact that each had been warned before and realized the seriousness of their offense Judge Knight ordered them both to the house of correction for a term of six months. Both appealed and were held in $300 bonds.

Non-Support Case

Antones Mingo faced prosecution this morning on the charge of neglecting his wife and child. From his wife's testimony it appeared that the defendant wanted to have her pay both her own and her child's board. Another witness went further and alleged that defendant had told him that he intended to look out his wife until she gave him the money that was coming to her from the old country. When the defendant took the stand he accused both previous witnesses of lying and denied that he had ever used his wife other than in the most loving manner. The court, after considering the case from all angles, put defendant under a four months suspended sentence to jail with the stipulation that he pay $1 per week to Probation Officer Slatery for the support of his wife and child. The defendant appealed from the decision.

Larceny of Cloth

Leo Patenaude pleaded guilty to stealing cloth from the Merrimack mills. Patenaude was fined $10.

John Olson, an old timer, was sent to the state farm at Bridgewater for an indefinite period.

Fred C. Orme and Clem B. Cook, both second offenders, were allowed their freedom upon the payment of $5.

Attempted Suicide

John R. Ashby, who Officer Castles, the arresting officer, said tried to commit suicide last night by jumping into the canal, was sent to jail for fifteen days to see whether he would enjoy life any better when he is again master of his own actions.

The case of William H. Clifford, charged with neglect of wife, was continued until next Tuesday.

Arthur G. Corum, on a charge of drunkenness, was sentenced to jail for 30 days. He appealed.

CRIMINAL INDICTMENTS RETURNED

As Result of Investigation into Practice of Colorado R. R. in Giving Free Transportation

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The investigation by Commissioner Harlan of the interstate commerce commission into the practice of Colorado railroads of giving free transportation has brought sensational results. Criminal indictments of large shippers and the offending carriers have been returned. Commissioner Harlan personally conducted an investigation and in his own characterization he "developed violations of the law on an extraordinary scale."

Mr. Harlan says in a preliminary report handed down today that in one month over a single railroad seven thousand trips were made on passes.

Not only shippers who controlled routing of traffic in any appreciable quantity were favored at all times but even public officials, careless alike of duty, morals and danger, accepted, even demanded these favors of the carriers.

The record shows that judges, state officials, members of the legislature, county and municipal officers, including mayors and aldermen have generally made use of passes. Not only has this been the case but the record shows that where passes were not volunteered they were asked for by public officials.

ABDUCT HAVERTHILL GIRL WOMAN BADLY BURNED

Miss Koutrou, Aged 16, Accident at Scripture's Laundry Yesterday

HAVERTHILL, April 3.—The police last night were called to investigate what is alleged to be the boldest abduction case that has ever occurred in this city. Miss Roullouda Koutrou, aged 16, is missing and, Nicholas Christas is being sought by the police.

Shortly before 10 last night Vangelio Koutrou, who conducts a lodging house in the heart of the Greek colony on Orchard street, rushed into the police station and informed Capt. Harry C. Hill that his sister had been abducted by two men in a taxicab.

Vangelio Musaka, a woman employed in Scripture's laundry, received a very bad burn on her left hand and arm yesterday while at work in the laundry. The ambulance was immediately called and the injured woman taken to the Lowell hospital.

It seems that the victim of the burning operates a mangle, or plain work iron, as it is commonly called in the business, and the management says she had been repeatedly warned not to touch the heated cylinder which is in close proximity to the machine which she keeps in motion.

Her arm is badly scalded, as well as burned.

The Y. W. C. A. Convention

The Y. W. C. A. national convention will be held at Richmond, Virginia from April 21st to the 15th and seven delegates from the local association will be present. At the conference there will be addresses by those both inside and outside of the association.

The object of the convention is to improve the work of the secretary by combining the different methods.

The two days following there will be a conference at which only those connected with the association will be present. This conference will include lectures, Bible studies and social hours. This is considered a great help to the employed officers of the Y. W. C. A.

The undersigned wish to express publicly their sincere thanks to those relatives, neighbors and friends who by their many acts of kindness, words of consolation and floral offerings, helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in our recent bereavement. To each and all we are especially grateful and will ever remember their kindness.

Signed,

CONANT'S BIG SALES

Atlantic Mills and Thomas Car Co. Net $825,000

E. H. Conant & Co. report the sale of the Atlantic mills of Lawrence and the Thomas Motor Car Co. of Buffalo, March 31, as follows:

The sale of the Atlantic mills was splendidly attended. There were 238 people within the mill yard and more than three times that number who were in a way interested, including the city roughly included outside the mill gates. The first bid was $400,000, immediately followed by two bids of $25,000 each, then by $125,000 bids up to $425,000, then $400 and $1000 in alternating bids to $545,000, plus the taxes for the current year when the property was sold to Robert F. Herrick, 34 State street, Boston, for the Pacific mills. The large new supplies in the supply department, $18,000, the stock in process, the contents of the stable, coal (500 tons), and many supplies were reserved from the sale. The assessed value of the property is $407,300. Immediately following the sale, the president and treasurer of the corporation stepped forward and enthusiastically congratulated the auctioneer. The sale is certainly another convincing proof of the success of intelligently and properly managed public sales—highly advertised—and pledged to the highest bona fide bidders.

Thomas Motor Car Company

The sale of the machinery and mechanical equipment of the plant of the E. R. Thomas Motor car company at Buffalo, which began on the 17th of this month, aggregated $287,000. The greatest offer for this property was $200,000 and between the time of this offer and the property coming to us there was taken from it and sold that which realized over $35,000. Again illustrating the success of intelligently managed—with proper publicity—unrestricted public sales. The two sales aggregated $825,000 in cash within a period of 15 days. This speaks volumes for the good condition of business today.

WATER SHUT OFF

People living in the vicinity of the Railroad Crossing in Fletcher Street were vexed.

Great inconvenience was experienced Tuesday afternoon and evening by persons living in the vicinity of Fletcher, Dutton and Western streets, because of the water for domestic purposes being shut off in that vicinity. The water department is installing new pipe in Fletcher street and by some hook or crook the water was turned off and it can be said in all truth that Commissioner Barrett was not a very popular man around those corners last night. In a boarding house in Western street where there are about 30 boarders, there was no water for several hours and it was necessary for boarders and others to carry water in pails from points beyond the dry zone. The Bridmar Chambers, too, was shut off and great inconvenience was experienced by its many roomers. A little indignation meeting was held in the Fletcher and Western streets and some not very nice things were said about the shutting off of the water. Commissioner Barrett showed up about 5 o'clock but he didn't offer a remedy. Several hours later water was available but the pressure was very light and it went off again early this morning.

PRICE OF COAL DROPS

"Just as soon as we begin to receive our low priced coal, so called, we will reduce the price," said one of the dealers. "The price dropped there yesterday." Mr. Spero of the King Clothing Co. reminds The Sun that part of the money spent for free transportation on Lowell Day was contributed as far back as 1909 by a number of merchants and business people who raised altogether $1850. ## MRS. EMERSON WRITES

Wants Examination of Imprisoned Daughter

LONDON, April 3.—A letter from Mrs. Emerson of Detroit was handed by Josiah Wedgwood, liberal member of parliament, to Reginald McKenna, the British home secretary today. It demanded permission for Mrs. Emerson's own physician to examine into the condition of her daughter, Miss Zella Emerson, the militant suffragette, who is said to be suffering greatly from the method of forcible feeding employed by the officials since she started her hunger strike in Holloway Jail, where she is undergoing two months' imprisonment for window breaking.

The United States embassy, according to Mrs. Emerson has promised, in the event of the failure of Secretary McKenna to comply with her request to place the matter before the British for-

sign office on the ground that the life of the prisoner is being endangered. A letter from another suffragette prisoner confined in the next cell to that of Zella Emerson states that the release of the American woman within a few days is necessary in order to save her reason and perhaps her life.

This fellow prisoner also asserts that Miss Emerson by giving her neighbor a portion of her food started her "hunger strike" 14 days before the prison doctors discovered her ruse. The writer of the letter who had not declared a hunger strike was able to dispose of the food.

VESSEL A TOTAL WRECK

Sent on Expedition Three
Years Ago

CLINTON, April 3.—John E. Thayer of Lancaster and Boston received word from Nome, Alaska, yesterday, announcing the loss of the vessel in which he sent an expedition into the Arctic three years ago, to secure specimens for his museum in South Lancaster and also material for Harvard university.

Capt. John Koren, the leader of the expedition, who sent the message, gave the further information that the vessel was a total wreck on the shores of Siberia, but that the material which the expedition had secured had been cached in Siberia and that the only loss sustained was the vessel. The vessel left Tacoma, Wash., April 25, 1910, manned by Capt. Koren and three other white men, who were later reinforced by two Eskimos. The expedition, which was for the purpose of gathering zoological, botanical and natural history specimens in the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions, visited the islands of Alaska, the Bering Sea and the Arctic ocean, including the Alaskan islands, Norton Sound and Nunavut Island.

MERRIMACK RIVER NAVIGATION

Former Congressman McNary

Speaking on waterways at the banquet of the board of trade and with particular reference to the navigation of the Merrimack river, dwelt on the subject in a manner that showed the result of deep study and a mastery of the details of the proposed project. As one of the directors of the part of Boston, he is brought into contact with movements that have for their object at the present time a general utilization of the great waterways of the country for commercial purposes such as freight transportation. Because of this, his words carry unusual weight. In considering his address with reference to the Merrimack river, it may be well to consider that one of the measures advocated by the present government, and dwelt on in frequent public utterances since the election of President Wilson, is the greater development of the ports and waterways of the whole country.

In opening, Mr. McNary called attention to the fact that though the Merrimack river has been under consideration by the United States government as a possible waterway for many years, in the early days it was always a question "whether a river should be used for manufacturing or for navigation." As manufacturing had first choice and the right of way, no consideration was given to the future possibilities of waterway development for the purpose of transportation. If railroad facilities were found ready to meet the outlets of trade at all points and at reasonable rates, it is doubtful if any agitation had been started towards utilizing the river, but now the business leaders of the land, and even the railroad directors themselves admit that the railroads are unable to handle the traffic of the country in a satisfactory manner. River development, therefore, has become a modern necessity, and though but lately considered on a large scale, it will be a large factor in the commercial life of the future.

Having established the fact that river transportation is necessary, Mr. McNary went into the question of rates as they would be affected by the new departure in freight transportation. The following statement is very significant: "It has been demonstrated that the carriers on our great lakes handle freight at one-eleventh the cost that freight is handled by the railroads." He also said: "The saving by the use of the Merrimack river from the sea to the Manchester line would amount to one million dollars a year." He based these figures on the report of an engineering commission acting for the federal government. As an illustration of the service secured by water navigation, he quoted Governor Foss, who recently pointed out that though under present conditions, from New England to the Pacific coast requires six weeks' time for railroad transportation, the use of the Panama canal will reduce the period to three weeks. This will make possible a new era of prosperity for the manufacturers of this region who have been hampered by the difficulty of reaching the west in the past because of defective and tardy freight transportation.

It will be remembered that many questions of the engineering difficulties connected with the project of making the Merrimack river navigable were raised on former occasions when the subject received brief discussion. Mr. McNary did not deal with this phase of the question beyond stating that the only real difficulty would be found at Lawrence. He mentioned the cost as far as Haverhill to be almost $500,000 but had no information as to further expenditures. The cost, he said, could be easily met by co-operation between the government and state. He urged a public opinion campaign so that a favorable sentiment could be created which would have a direct influence on the state legislatures. In his own words: "It seems to me very important that the cities along the Merrimack river work unceasingly to create a sentiment for this work, to the end that the legislature may take action to meet the United States government half way in the matter of assuming the cost of making the Merrimack navigable. I think the legislature will see the importance of this undertaking when the situation is properly presented to it."

In almost all private and discussions of national industrial advancement at the present time, speakers and writers quote the example of Germany. Mr. McNary is no exception, and on the 11th of March he stated that in that country all great rivers are made highways and so satisfying are the conditions that the use of them for the purpose is increasing. The speaker summed up the whole argument of those who favor the navigation of the Merrimack river when he said: "It is an absurdity that coal should be brought here in railroad cars and that cotton should be carried on railroad tracks when the possibility of water navigation is present." While it is evident that an expenditure such as the proposed plan would entail should be undertaken only after deep and careful consideration had justified the outlay, the favorable opinion of men such as Mr. McNary who are qualified to speak advisedly on the matter will give the movement a great impetus, and such expert opinion is worth a thousand empty conjectures. There are many among us who believe that the navigation of the Merrimack would mean the greatest step forward that Lowell has had since its foundation.

THE RAILROAD REPORT

It is a most significant fact that about three hundred members of the Boston chamber of commerce, representing the leading business men of that city, voted unanimously to accept the report of the directors of that body as to the railroad situation and recommendations for its improvement. When we consider that the report was conservative, conciliating, and against any of the radical measures which we have heard proposed for some time, as to legislation and state control, such a unanimous approval marks an entire change of policy in a most emphatic manner. The measures advocated cannot be very disagreeable to the railroads or difficult of fulfillment, and the stand of the Boston body may be taken to be fairly representative of the attitude of the business opinion of Massachusetts, or in a greater measure of New England. It is a matter for mutual congratulation that the useless and pernicious antagonism shown towards railroad management in this region is to be abandoned, and a more healthy spirit substituted.

The chamber of commerce report also points out indirectly the advantage of business organizations in aiming at solutions of existing evils. Although the legislature is the final logical body from which to seek redress, the fact holds true that no one knows the problems of the business man better than those who are engaged in business and interested in its problems. Because of a diversity of occupations and ideas united in mutual good will, men such as those in the Boston chamber of commerce are well qualified to suggest means that will be of lasting benefit to them all and to the entire community which is largely dependent on their success. If their recommendations are to be effective, however, they must meet with general approval and support, and it is certain that public opinion will back the Boston organization in its present attitude. If the recommendations will now be put into effect and supported by action, a great change for the better must soon be apparent to all.

THE LOWELL HABIT

Occasional celebrations such as the Lowell day observance are good only in so far as they outline and suggest our actions for every day of the year. The lessons of loyalty and civic pride emphasized by the board of trade may be speedily forgotten, but a habit once formed is always remembered and practiced almost unconsciously. The important thing then is to speak well of Lowell and patronize its industries, not for one day only, but to put the lessons taught by April 1st into practice until the commemoration will come around again. If most of our citizens did this, each successive April 1st would find the city growing in size, beauty, and importance, and what benefits any city will ultimately benefit all its people. The Lowell habit is a habit that pays.

WILLIAM D. HAYWOOD

In some sections of the country William D. Haywood is not given very much opportunity to stir things up as he did here in the neighboring cities and in a slight degree in Lowell. He has just been sentenced to six months in prison in Paterson, New Jersey, for disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly. His fame had preceded him and the authorities were vigilant, with disastrous consequences to William. As the terms of his sentence will include hard labor for ten hours a day, he will have a chance when he comes out to speak from personal experience on the woes and hardships of the working class, to which he professes such loyalty.

"MANCHESTER UNION"

Concentrations by our esteemed contemporary the "Manchester Union" on its fifteenth anniversary, and on the 11th of March he stated that in that country all great rivers are made highways and so satisfying are the conditions that the use of them for the purpose is increasing. The speaker summed up the whole argument of those who favor the navigation of the Merrimack river when he said: "It is an absurdity that coal should be brought here in railroad cars and that cotton should be carried on railroad tracks when the

Seen and Heard

There are quite a number of fellows smoking opium in Lowell, but not quite ripe enough for the asylum. They tell that the janitor of the city hall has received a few words of kindness from the true state. There ought to be a law providing for an old-fashioned well or pump in every building and house, and a supply to the modern water supply system. If the smoke inspector would care to set a line on the chimneys that contribute to the smoke pollution in Lowell, he can do so by taking the elevator to the tenth floor of the Sun building, and he will be welcome, too.

Why is it when two streets are torn up by a city department that the department will have the greatest number of men where traffic is lightest instead of putting the "big bang" on the busy street in order to close the job as quickly as possible? A young lady who called at the Sun office yesterday carried a basket full of trading stamps and a reward, and the dear girl for it is generally conceded that the trading stamps are the sweetest blossoms of the early spring and sometimes we think there is nothing to match it at any time of the year. The young lady told us that she gathered the party blossoms in Amherst, N. H., and it is rarely she informed us that they are found so early.

The slaughter of birds, says the Detroit Free Press, has for years been a disgrace. It is no flight of fancy to say that the country is reeling under the loss of its birds, and the result of the error it has shown. Now it has decided to repent. So far, good. But get the law into effect as soon as possible. It will be difficult of enforcement, but it can be enforced. Even this will not wholly obliterate the menace of the insects. There is still another move to make, an international pact whereby Canada to the north of us and Mexico to the south of us will engage to cooperate with the United States through international agreement for the protection of useful birds. This sort of agreement has been made throughout the greater portion of Europe. Nations which seem unable to settle their strictly political differences provide by treaty for the preservation of the birds. They have entered their paws, and in some instances, at great cost. If the powers of Europe, little given to sentiment, consider the question so serious, we cannot but think that we can do no better than to follow their example.

HER LIFE FOR YOU

She has lived her life for you, given you all her best. Called with you and dreamt with you and sung with you to your best. And waited time by time— She has lived her life for you, Tender and sublime.

Maybe in her hair and heart gray is creeping on— She has lived her life for you since her love's first dawn. Saved and skinned to make ends meet. Planned and dreamed away— She has lived her life for you; What have you to pay?

What have you to give her now, have you thought of that? Have you dreamed and planned it out as alone you met? Measured with an honest will. Heaping measures full of the things that make a life Glad and beautiful?

She has lived her life for you, down through all the years. Patient, faithful, trusting, true, in the smiles and tears. Waited, wondered, sung and borne, yielded, suffered, died— She has lived her life for you Since the day you wed.

—Baltimore Sun.

CRAMPS, HEADACHE, BACKACHE,

Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"I was always tired and weak and my housework was a drag. I was irregular, had cramps so bad that I would have to lie down, also a distressed feeling in lower part of back, and headache. My abdomen was sore and I knew I had organic inflammation."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have helped me wonderfully. I don't have those pains any more and I am all right now. There are a great many women here who take your remedies and I have told others what they have done for me."—Mrs. CHAS. McKINNON, 1013 N. 5th St. W., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Women who are suffering from these distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health. There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

We challenge anyone to name even one other medicine that has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Toll of the Sea. Salem News: Readers of the public prints have just learned that "more than 75 persons perished by shipwreck and 55 vessels met with disaster off the New England and North American coasts during the fall and winter season of 1912-13." It has been termed a "grim showing." Without intending in the least to question that the toll is a heavy one, the summary is it is fair to say that the first anniversary of the Titanic disaster is near at hand. The terror of that disaster, the most fatal in the history of transatlantic travel, was emphasized by the loss of more than 1600 lives, representing all ranks and conditions of society. But the sacrifices were not all in vain. Ocean travel is now the safer, both as the result of added safeguards and the enforcement of more stringent navigation rules.

Logical. Boston Journal: If Curtis Guild is chosen as the republican party's nominee, he will find that the number of children has been greatly diminished. Boston Post: Of worshipping false gods, eh? That's the scriptural analogy, anyway, and it isn't the happiest that might have been made.

Money or Brains. North Adams Transcript: There are those who are optimistic enough to predict that men will yet be found for the foreign posts who have the requisite money and brains. The president should look about for men who have made their own fortune. The ability to make a fortune implies brains. Let him who does not believe this try his hand.

Literary. Newport News: Walter Hines Page of New York who has accepted the appointment of ambassador to England, has been engaged during his entire life in literary work. He began his editorial labors immediately upon graduation from Randolph-Macon college, has been a "general utility man" on the New York Evening Post, writing the literary reviews and other work; was for five years editor of the Forum, then editor of the Atlantic Monthly and also literary adviser to Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; did special work for the New York Herald, and more recently has been editor of World's Work. He is the author of "The Rebuilding of the Old Common-

"Literary" fellow." Haverhill Gazette: "This we know: Morgan was a man of genius, a man of the world, a shrewd, of unquenchable resourcefulness, and an executive of demonstrated ability. To say that at one time he held the keys to over nine billions of dollars is to give no comprehensive measure of his ability. His influence or his force of character whatever he had on the public opinion, in which love and hatred were both born, he stood high in the esteem and confidence of the ruling figures of the earth. He could make the conduct of every undertaking the habit and the sapience of large affairs."

Face the Music. New Bedford Times: "That a cabinet office is not all milk and honey is illustrated by the action of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in fleeing Washington three times within the short period he has held his new post to escape the persistent and frequent calls of office-seekers."

To be forewarned is to be forearmed, as he has expressed it. In order to find time to transact his official duties is not a pleasing necessity. Yet, why run away? One does not hope to be able to escape the job-hunter? Deluded man! Doesn't he know that no matter where he goes or how often he deserts Washington the office-seekers will be back on the doorstep when he gets back? Secretary McAdoo should stand his ground. Let him face the music and the "hot air" in the end he must have such troubles behind instead of before him."

Slight Changes. Boston Democrat: Margaret Woodrow Wilson, the president's daughter, reflects credit on the White House in writing from there a letter advising the use of public school buildings as civic centers. Let us hope the desks will be made higher and the seats will be made lower, so that the young people will be able to sit comfortably while absorbing uplifting social and intellectual life not provided in their homes."

Mutual Relief. Providence Call: Frank J. Gould's "disgrace" with America is sad, but there is a remedy. If he stays away he will not be compelled to endure this country, nor will this country be compelled to endure him."

Research Club Met. Mrs. Fred Lacey of 252 Pawtucket Street was the hostess of the Research Club recently when they gathered at her home for their regular meeting. All spent a very enjoyable time. The first of the entertainment which followed the business session consisted of a musical entertainment in charge of Mrs. George Burns. Mrs. Clin then read a paper on "The Appreciation and Origin of Music," which was most instructive. The musical numbers were as follows: Song, Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Sturtevant; piano solo, Miss Fish; song, Mrs. Burns; violin solo, Miss Jane Fish, accompanied by Miss Fish; song, Mrs. Wilson. Each of these responded to the others. A social hour was enjoyed and afterwards the hostess served luncheon to the members.

On Wednesday, April 16, the club will go to Boston to visit the Art Museum and other points of interest. If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

INTEREST OF C.Y.M.L. THINK FIRE WAS SET

Centered About Contest Incendiarism Suspected and Tournament in Atlantic Ave.

BOSTON, April 3.—The fire which caused damage estimated at $5000 to the five-story brick building 365, 368 and 370 Atlantic avenue, near the head of Foster's wharf, yesterday morning, is believed to have been set and the police are making a diligent search for two men who were seen to sneak out of a doorway across the street shortly before the fire was discovered. They were seen by Patrolmen Ivers and Farrell of the Court Square station, who feel sure they can identify them if they are caught. Two men who have offices in the building think the fire was set for revenge on them. A few months ago there was a serious fire in the same building. When the firemen arrived yesterday morning it looked for a time as if they would have a hard battle, but the big fire door and heavy party walls aided them in keeping the flames confined to one division of the building.

The stock of C. H. French, pattern maker and discusser, who occupied the third, fourth and fifth floors, was damaged by fire and his machinery soaked with water. The saloon of David W. Sullivan & Co. on the street floor at 353 was flooded, as was the wine store of J. H. Hayes & Co. at 370. Deposits made this week in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begin to draw interest April 5th.

The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank carefully endorses the advice of other banks to open a savings account and invites your patronage.

IN MEMORIAM
Miss Zetta L. Bally
1889-1913

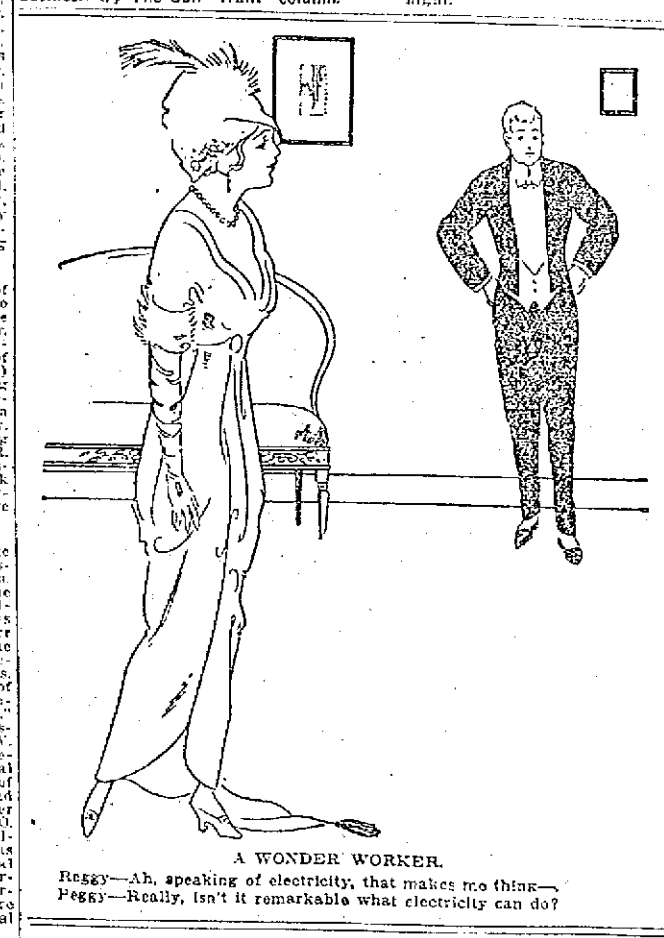

"SHE WILL SLEEP TONIGHT."
Smooth the brows of her slumbering hair.
On her gently bowed with tender care.
Gather the robe in a final fold
Around the form that will not grow old.
Lay on her bosom, pure as snow,
The fairest, sweetest flowers that blow.
Kiss her and leave her, your hearts
In dreamlike peace she will sleep to-night.

A shadowy gleam of life light lies
Around the lids of her slumberous eyes.
And her lips are closed as in fond decay
Of the loving words she had to say.
But her gentle heart forgot to beat,
And from dainty hand to dainty feet
She is strangely cold, cold and white.
The fever is gone—she will sleep to-night.

Put by her work and her empty chair,
Fold up her garments she used to wear.
Let down the curtains and close the door.
She will need the evening light no more;
For the task assigned her under the sun
Is finished now, and the guardian won,
Tenderly kiss her, but put out the light,
And leave her alone—she will sleep to-night.

O blessed sleep! that will not break
For tears, nor prayers, nor love's sweet Sake;
O perfect rest, that knows no pain;
No throbs, no thrill of heart or brain;
O life sublime beyond all speech,
That only the pure through dying
reach
God understands, and His ways are right;
Bid His beloved a long good night.

Weep for the days that come no more,
For the sunshine flown from heart
and door
For a halting step, for the nameless
space
Of a tender voice and a loving face,
But not for the soul whose goal is won,
Whose infinite joy is just begun—
Not for the spirit enrobed in light,
And crowded where the angels are to-night.

George Mullin, the Detroit twirler, is of the opinion that it is a physical impossibility to invent another curve ball. This is undoubtedly a fact for it is inconceivable how a variation can be effected with a baseball other than modern pitchers are now equipped with. If the game is to be developed onto a higher plane than it rests on today it will have to be from the hitting and base running angles.

The New England League will procure at least two of the recruits which have been discarded by the Red Sox. According to Tim Murnane, Walsh, Fall River's last year's outfielder, will report to Worcester and Carlstrom will be back again in a Lawrence uniform. The Springfield club also lays claim to Carlstrom but will take Tim's version of the transfer.

Carlstrom made a very good impression upon Manager Stahl but his playing lacked the necessary experience to make him a valuable man for a big league club. He was sold by Lawrence to the Red Sox at the conclusion of last season's pennant race for the sum of $2000, $1000 of which was held back so that Lawrence could again procure the big shortstop if he failed to make good with the "big show." If the Boston team sells him to another club they will be obliged to cash in with another thousand to Manager Pieper.

Pitcher Aycock of the North Carolina College team is the first slab artist to pitch a no-hit game in the season. This player let down Trinity College without a semblance of a hit for nine full innings and walked away with the game in his kit. Several of the scouts for the big leaguers are already looking him over with an eye to slipping a contract by him.

Manchester looks to be in a fair way to grab off New England League yet. Although disappointed in their attempt to get the Fall River franchise they are now out with in-documents to Dan Ciochey with his Haverhill club. Messrs. Ciochey and Marshall were the men who advanced the necessary coin to reserve the players last fall but the association still claims to control the Haverhill baseball situation. Haverhill has not paid any dividends for the past several years.

In Frank Nimmo of New York, a 22-year-old third sacker of Brooklyn's 1912 baseball contender, the Shoe City manager has a player whom they will be unable to kid along. Nimmo is a deaf mute and comes strongly recommended by several good judges of ball players.

Baker, the wonderful third baseman of the Athletics, has batted for 45 in the games played in the south this year. Taking all the conditions that exist on the pre-season trips the American League which are figuring that "Homer" will not be so formidable this year. They may be right but a batting average of .435 even if it was computed from easy games, is certainly mending up a few backslaps.

Manager Louis Pieper of the Lawrence team has signed up thirty-three players for his 1913 team. On the roster there are six catchers, eleven pitchers, thirteen infielders and four outfielders. On paper it looks as though the down river manager was neglecting his outfield but he is liable to sign eight or ten more outer gardeners most any day now. It will be interesting to watch just how the two systems work out this year as Lowell is using just the opposite plan. Every man that reports to Manager Gray is known to be a good ball player, or at least he was last year, while the Lawrence team will be picked from many players about whom nothing is known except that they have signed a contract. An element of luck always enters into the latter method of enrolling a club while Lowell's baseball policy is as certain as anything can be in baseball.

GARFIELD POST MEETING

Paid Tribute to the Late Col. Ripley

The regular business session of the James A. Garfield Post, 129 G. A. E., took place last night in the hall of the organization with Commander Thomas Kegan presiding. A fitting tribute was paid the late brother and past commander, Royal S. Ripley of North Chelmsford, by Conrad Bales and others.

During the session a large amount of business of a routine character was transacted by the members. A letter from the Memorial Day committee of Tyngsboro was read inviting the post to join with them in decorating comrades' graves on May 30. The action in this matter was postponed for one week. The investigating committee was given the opportunity to report upon at the next meeting.

One of the features of the evening was a reading by the corporal, entitled "Weeds of the Army," and this was enjoyed by all. There were several other pleasing numbers and during the meeting remarks were made by the officers and members.

H. P. Butler Relief Corps. Members of B. P. Butler Woman's Relief Corps, No. 75, met in regular session in Memorial hall and transacted considerable routine business of importance. At the opening of the meeting the recently chosen vice president of Middlesex county division, Miss Lizzy W. Worthen, was presented and addressed her sister members.

Lowell Corps No. 25 bears the distinction of having contributed two of its chief officers to the county in Miss Worthen, county vice president, and Emma J. Ober, chairman of the auditing committee. The relief corps voted to do its share toward assisting the flood sufferers if called upon. Arrangements were completed for representation at the department convention in Boston on April 8 and 9.

Industry Council, R. A. An interesting session of Industry Council, Royal Arcanum, was held last evening in Odd Fellows hall with Regent M. J. Sullivan in the chair. Numerous important matters were discussed. The report of the committee in charge of the whist tournament reported all arrangements complete for that event. After last night's meeting, a whist competition was held and enjoyed by a large number. The session closed after a social hour and smoke talk.

Elgin Lodge, N. E. O. P. The regular meeting of Elgin Lodge, N. E. O. P., will be held this evening in Veritas hall in Branch street and a large attendance is urged. Visitors are expected and a rehearsal of the degree team will be held.

J. A. N. BARACA CLASS Held Minstrel Show at Odd Fellows Hall, Centralville, Last Evening—Great Success

Odd Fellows hall, Centralville, was the scene last evening of a very clever entertainment by the J. A. N. Baraca class. It was down on the program as a bit of "modern minstrelsy" and whatever that it was very good. The sketch presented was entitled "Spookson's Stag Party" and it was full of fun and comedy.

The same entertainment will be repeated tonight. The committee in charge consists of F. Leslie Miles, chairman; Kenneth F. and Grant Jasper.

Historical Studies Congress LONDON, April 2.—Delegates from the United States, France, Germany, China, Russia, Great Britain, and her dominions met here today for a week's session of the international congress of historical studies. All the best known leaders of the collegiate institutions in the British Isles took part in the welcome extended to the visiting delegates.

MRS. CLARK DECLINES

Will Not Attend National Welcome Breakfast

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Fresh fuel was added to the flames that was trying the souls of the promoters of the National Welcome breakfast to be given for Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall Saturday when Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the speaker of the house, notified them she would not attend. Mrs. Clark pleaded a previous engagement. Those who have declined to go to the breakfast on the ground that democratic women are being discriminated against were jubilant today when the news of Mrs. Clark's defection was made known.

The question of precedence at the breakfast is also giving the promoters trouble. They evolved a plan by which friction in the cabinet circle is to be avoided by having the wives of the cabinet officers ranged at Mrs. Wilson's table in the same position that their husbands occupy in the cabinet room. Mrs. Clark, however, was to have placed at Mrs. Wilson's left, Mrs. Bryan occupying the honor place at the right hand of the wife of the president.

The principal criticism leveled at the committee having the affair in charge is that the breakfast instead of being a democratic affair will include women whose husbands are of every shade of political faith.

WOMAN ON JOB For First Time in History Member of Fair Sex May Have Opportunity to Carry President's Messages to Senate

WASHINGTON, April 3.—For the first time in history a woman may have the opportunity of announcing to the president of the senate or the speaker of the house that she is the bearer of a message from the president of the United States.

Miss Alberta Hill of New York is after the White House job now held by M. C. Latta, who for many years has carried the messages of the president to the senate and house and in innumerable times in both chambers displayed the nature of his visit.

Precedent, however, will have to be set aside if Miss Hill is appointed, for it has been an unwritten rule for years that no woman should be employed in the executive office.

Miss Hill is an ardent suffragist and has gained some reputation as a public speaker.

HARMONY CLUB REUNION Maiden Young People Agree Not to Marry; Hot Boys Escort Girls After the Meeting; It Is Said

MALDEN, April 3.—Members of the Harmony club, whose motto is "Never to Marry," met last evening for their first annual reunion at the home of the president, Edward F. Dunn, son of Sealer of Weights and Measures William F. Dunn, on Emerald street.

LEADERS OF STRONGEST TEAMS IN EACH BIG LEAGUE—WHO WILL BE THE SUCCESSFUL ONE?

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—With the opening of the baseball season at hand the fans have sidetracked everything else to discuss the chances of their favorites. The all absorbing topic at present is, Who will be the successful pilots in the American and National leagues? The majority of experts in the parent baseball organization pick Johnny McDraw of New York to make it three straight. Local critics believe

Fred Clarke will lead the Pirates pointward. Chicago scribes think Johnny Evers and his Cubs will capture the banner. In the American league the majority of the experts declare Jake Stahl and his Boston Red Sox will again take part in a world's series. Philadelphia critics say that if Connie Mack's pitchers deliver the goods the Athletics will romp home with the gonfalon. Washington bugs, critics and scribes are of the opinion that Clark Griffith will bring the first pennant to the capital. Of course auto-season predictions are not always fulfilled, as baseball is so uncertain, so we all will have to wait until the season is well under way before we can tell which team has the best chance to win the pennant in its respective league.

CONSIDER INCOME TAX

Democratic Members of House Committee Met

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The democratic members of the house committee on ways and means reassembled today at what was expected to be the final meeting before the tariff revision bill is laid before the democratic caucus next Tuesday.

With the points of difference between President Wilson and the committee settled by an agreement on free raw wool, the interest shifted to a large extent to free sugar and to the details of the income tax plan. Members of the committee were prepared to receive a final word from the president regarding the tariff measure and to devote much of today to consideration of income tax. There was a possibility of a change in the provisional rate of one per cent. on amounts above the exempted four thousand a year running up to four per cent. on $100,000 or more a year.

RIVERLOOK CLUB

Heard Lecture From Rev. J. Harold Dale Last Night—"The Marshes of Glynn"

Rev. J. Harold Dale, pastor of the Billerica Congregational church, spoke before the members and friends of the Riverlook club at the Y. W. C. A. last night. There was a large attendance and among the poems Mr. Dale read were, "The Marshes of Glynn" and "The Two Springs" by Sidney Lanier. Mr. Dale, who formerly lived in the south, described his readings very clearly and his talk was much enjoyed by those present.

GONE TO CANADA

Ex-Supt. Moffatt Has Gone to His Farm in the Northwestern Part of Canada

William Moffatt, former superintendent of the Lowell police department, accompanied by Mr. William F. Murphy, of the firm of Adams & Murphy, Mrs. Murphy and children, left this city yesterday for Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will go to the province of Alberta for a three months' stay, while Mr. Moffatt is off to his farm in Saskatchewan, in northwestern Canada.

Left Wrist Cut Daniel Kane, an employee of the Saco-Loell shops, living at 7 Richmond street, received a very painful cut on his left wrist yesterday while at work. Three stitches were required to close the wound. The ambulance was called and the injured man was removed to the Lowell hospital.

BOTH IN GOOD SHAPE LOWELL MEN DEFEATED

Gallant and Dohan Are Arlington Car Men Won Confident by Four Pins

Lowell fight fans await with great expectation the tap of the gong that will send the lightweight contenders Johnny Dohan of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea, on their 12-round journey tomorrow night at the rooms of the Lowell A. C. Matchmaker Gardner stated that he believed that tomorrow night's bouts will prove the best show of the season and it is certain that the fans are showing more interest in the Dohan-Gallant meeting than any decided at the club this season. Dohan does not figure on any easy picking with the Chelsea lightweight and the Brooklyn boy has been trained to be in the best condition of his life. The winner has been promised a meeting with Matty Baldwin in the event of which the lightweight championship of New England would be very close to being involved. Dohan, of course, is not a New Englander but he would relish the chance to face the Bunker Hill "Bear Cat" and will strive for all that he is worth to make his win as impressive as possible. There does not appear to be any doubt in Dohan's mind about his winning as he feels sure that he can take the measure of the Chelsea lightweight. It is natural that Gallant should feel the same way and with both men in the aforementioned frame of mind, Lowell fans appear to be in for a red letter night of boxing. Next to the feature contest the semi-final between Johnny Cooper the ex-amateur national featherweight champion and Young Morgan of Manchester is exciting more than a passing interest. Morgan is a former favorite with Lowell fans but his star promises to set when he faces the clever and hard hitting ex-amateur boxer, Cooper. With two other preliminaries to warm the members up prior to the feature, some sterling boxing should be on tap tomorrow night.

Chandler Injured

Chandler, the Harvard high jumper, pulled a tendon in practicing Soldiers' Field yesterday. This athlete is some jumper and, if in shape, can win points in any meet for the Crimson track team. Chandler has competed against the local high school team on several occasions when a member of the Brookline high team. He and Johnstone, one of the best high jumpers in the country today, both took a defeat here a few years ago.

TELEPHAT SOCIABLE

An Enjoyable Social Held at the Pawtucket Hotel House Last Night by Popular Fraternity

A very pretty dancing party was held at the Pawtucket hotel house last night under the auspices of the Telephat, an organization connected with the New England Telephone company. The hall was prettily decorated with colored bunting and the event was successful in all ways. Over 50 couples danced to the music furnished by Miner's Union orchestra. The untimely success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts of Miss Margaret Smith, assisted by the other members of the fraternity.

TENDERED RECEPTION

Rev. F. E. Carver Honored by His flock at the Hillside Church Last Evening

Rev. Frederick E. Carver, retiring pastor of the Hillside church in Dedham, was last night tendered a farewell reception by the members of his flock. The affair was held in the vestry of the church and very largely attended.

Gunther's orchestra supplied an excellent musical program during the evening. The occasion was most enjoyable but the expressions of regret to the retiring pastor were very hearty regard in which the pastor is held by his people. Refreshments were served by a group of young women of the church, and before parting the assembly sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and wished their former pastor God-speed.

Panama Canal Tolls

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Indication in the growing popular interest in the settlement of the Panama canal tolls controversy is found in the fact that with a single exception every subject set down for discussion at the seventh annual meeting here of the American Association for International Law, April 6, relates directly to that problem. Some of the most noted lawyers in the land are expected to address themselves to it and it is expected that the great weight of legal heavy artillery will be trained against the policy.

Burns and Pelky

CALGARY, Alberta, April 3.—Toronto Burns, former heavyweight champion of the world, and Arthur Pelky of Clutcoque, Mass., fought six rounds here last night. It was a no decision affair. Burns scored three knockdowns and was himself floored once but was on his feet instantly and continued his rushing tactics. It was a hard fought battle throughout.

CANNOT TALK TO CHILD

Man Separated From His Daughter 10 Years

BOSTON, April 3.—On board the Boston and Maine steamship Hamilton, which reached port yesterday, two days lay from Antwerp, were Alexander Hanke and his 11-year-old daughter, Wanda, who were on their way to Stranet Penn. The child has been separated from her family for 10 years and during that time she has been taught, through which the father could understand.

Ten years ago Alexander Hanke with his wife and several children left his home in Poland for this country. They went to Antwerp to embark and the examining physician refused to let the young Wanda, who was then a year old, the youngest of the family, board the steamer, claiming that she was afflicted with some eye disease. Wanda was sent to an institution in Holland, while the remainder of the family continued on their way to the country.

Four years ago the father went to Holland purposely to bring his little girl back with him, but the child would again refused passage on account of her eyes. Six weeks ago Mr. Hanke went over again. He feared that his efforts would be unsuccessful, but his wife was anxious to see her young child and persuaded him to make another attempt. To his great surprise and joy, Wanda passed the examination without the slightest trouble. The father was greatly perplexed, for little Wanda could not speak the language that he had tried to teach her before they left Poland. While in Holland and started to speak Dutch, and the father could speak only Polish and a little English. So that most of the conversation between the two was carried on by signs or by the aid of one of the ship's interpreters.

Both the father and child appeared perfectly happy, however, and they left for Scranton last evening. Hanke is a carpenter and has been very successful since he came to this country.

Kennigott's services as its president, will present him a very appropriate gift on his departure. At a rehearsal of the society Tuesday evening, the gift was on exhibition and it will be sent at once to Rev. M. Kennigott in Los Angeles with the best wishes of the members.

Wool on the Free List

An Agreement Reached

Last Night

NO DECISION MADE YET AS TO SUGAR

Pres. Wilson to Give Matter More Study—President and Members of Ways and Means Committee Confer

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Removal of all tariff from raw wool has been agreed upon between President Wilson and the members of the house committee on ways and means, as the result of conferences that ended last night.

The present plan, which will have the unanimous indorsement of the democratic members of the committee, provides that wool shall be placed on the free list, an end for which the free wool democrats of the house have fought for two years.

With the work of the house ways and means committee before him and the extra session of congress only a few days off, the president had proceeded deep enough in his study of the tariff bill to realize that before the democratic caucus meets there will be many points upon which he himself must take a definite stand. It was admitted at the White House that he would do so "in a day or two."

It was declared that the president had not finally made up his mind as to whether the tariff should be revised schedule by schedule or in a single bill, whether sugar should be put on the free list or given a reasonable amount of protection, and whether the income tax should be by a flat rate or graduated. These and kindred questions the president had not yet decided definitely, but from what he told his callers yesterday there was a well-defined impression of his inclinations.

Revision by a Single Bill

The president leans strongly to revision by a single bill. He thinks the income tax question can only be decided after an agreement has been made upon tariff rates, and he believed that sugar should go on the free list, but is open to conviction on that point.

The president has been hearing arguments that people in Louisiana could readjust their business to meet the new conditions imposed by the removal of the tariff on sugar.

Col. Robert Ewing, national committeeman from Louisiana, has been presenting the other side of the question, and when he left the White House Tuesday he had laid the case in full before Mr. Wilson.

Following upon his conference Tuesday night with the Underwood, the first time the president did yesterday was to send for Col. Ewing. He canvassed the possibility of getting a common agreement on the sugar question.

The Louisiana National committeeman told the president that the busi-

200 DIE IN WILD DASH

Storm of Fort Tarabosch

at Sutari

CETTINJE, April 3.—529 p. m.—Great Tarabosch Fort, which for months has held the allies off Sentari, is now practically in the hands of the Montenegrins, thanks to the sacrifice of 200 bomb throwers, every one of whom lost his life in a last desperate effort to clear the way to the town, for the possession of which Montenegro is ready to give up everything.

These bomb throwers were all picked men, chosen from several battalions. Clambering up the mountain side, under a murderous fire from the Turkish guns, they cut the wire entanglements, and getting to close quarters threw bombs among the Turks, thus opening the way for the storming party.

Not one of the bomb throwers returned, but they had accomplished their object and the Montenegrin infantry, following close upon them, charged the trenches.

The Turks held their ground and a hand-to-hand fight ensued, lasting an hour and ending in victory for the Montenegrins, who lost 300 men killed and wounded. Tier after tier of entrenchments had to be taken.

The tactics followed, particularly in regard to the use of bomb throwers, were similar to those adopted in the capture of Adrianople. But in the advance on Adrianople the soldiers who cut and divided the wire entanglements surrounding the forts were clad in cuirasses and provided with shields.

Four Austrian warships arrived in Montenegrin waters early this morning. They are anchored about ten miles off shore between Antivari and Dubligno.

PROTECTING THE CHILD

Cigaret Bill is Ordered to Third Reading

HOUSE ADVANCES BILL TO AID SPANISH WAR VETERANS

Fall River Textile School Refused Appropriation—Pure Food Statute Reconsidered

The bill providing that any child under 15 years of age found with cigarettes in his possession may be arrested without a warrant, was ordered to a third reading, 32 to 34, in the house yesterday, after an amendment offered by Drury of Waltham, requiring that children thus arrested shall be released on the written promise of their parents to look after them.

Discussion of the bill to abolish party enrollment went over till next Tuesday.

Spanish War Veterans

The bill providing that Spanish War veterans shall receive a credit of 5 per cent in civil service examinations was ordered to a third reading, after a warm discussion, on a voice vote in the house yesterday.

Bothfield of Newton opposed the bill, saying it is not asked by the rank and file who saw service, but rather by those who occupy or aspire to offices. On many of the civil service lists, he said, such legislation would jump each Spanish War veteran over 25 or 30 others who have demonstrated their superiority in the examinations.

Leslie of Quincy defended the bill, calling attention to the fact that the state has gone even further in its efforts to reward the veterans of the Civil war, and the Spanish war men are entitled to just as much consideration, for although some of them did not get out of the state, still they volunteered their services and were ready to go wherever they were sent. Sherburne of Brockline said he was glad to do every proper thing for the Spanish war veterans. Such men as suffered a loss of capacity, or whose health was injuriously affected, he said, should be paid a pension, but to provide that every man who enlisted for that war, whether he saw actual service, and whether he was injured or not, should be given a credit of 5 per cent, in many cases insuring their appointment in preference to all others, he thought would be highly improper.

Webster of Bedford and B. P. Sullivan of Boston also favored the bill. J. E. Sullivan of Boston moved to substitute for an adverse committee report a bill providing that the Boston school committee shall consist of 20 members, to be elected by wards, and that only 50 signatures shall be required on nomination papers to nominate candidates for the committee. Debate was cut off by adjournment.

Appropriation Refused

By a vote of 56 to 36 the house rejected a resolve appropriating $7000 for

New life for the Spring-Tired,

Improvements at the Bradford Durfee textile school in Fall River, the committee on ways and means reporting that it ought not to pass.

Pure Food Bill

The vote of the state senate passing to be engrossed the bill for false stamping and labeling of receptacles containing food was considered without dissent. Senator McLane offered an amendment to insert the words "whenever knowingly" falsely stamps a receptacle for articles of food. Senator Clark of Brockton opposed on the ground that the intent is the hardest thing to prove. On motion of Senator McLane further consideration was postponed to Wednesday.

Auto Bill

The bill to provide that in the collection of automobile damages proof that injury was done by a particular automobile shall be evidence that the automobile was being operated by the owner or his servant was rejected by voice vote without debate, as was the Horgan amendment.

The bill to exempt masters and seamen engaged in interstate or foreign commerce from the operation of the workmen's compensation act was passed to be engrossed without debate. The adverse report on the petition of Charlotte A. Smith to tax bachelor was accepted without debate. Resolutions favoring an amendment to the constitution prohibiting polygamy and memorializing congress therefor were adopted without debate.

Reports of Committees

These reports of committees were received:

Ways and Means—Ought not to pass on bill to regulate and control boxing and the establishment of an athletic commission; ought to pass on bill for a commission on immigration to examine the status of immigrants and aliens in this commonwealth; that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the bill to give to William J. Barrett the soldier's relief his father was entitled to receive.

Metropolitan Affairs—Leave to withdraw to George P. Butterfield on his petition that Helen L. Butterfield be compensated for her land in Stoneham, taken by the Metropolitan park commission.

Public Health—Reference to next general court of the petition of Charles H. Beckwith to prohibit the carrying on of offensive trades within 200 rods of a city boundary without a permit from the mayor and aldermen of such city.

Water Supply—A bill to provide for an additional water supply from Newton besides the daily supply of 5,000,000 gallons that it is now entitled to take from the Charles river.

Legal Affairs—A bill to establish the fees of sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and constables for the service of civil process.

HOLY CITY CANTATA

Sung By St. Anne's Vested Choir—Pawtucket Church Held Entertainment Last Evening

"The Holy City," Gaudi's superb cantata, was sung at the Gorham Street Methodist church last evening, by the vested choir of St. Anne's church. The male choir sang the inspiring numbers of the work, assisted by Mrs. Lee Taylor, Miss Grace H. Currier and Thomas H. Parkinson. Charles P. Sladen directed, and Charles P. Brown was the organist, with Miss Alice Leith, pianist. The church was filled and the cantata was thoroughly enjoyed. Previous to the second part, Mr. Brown and Miss Leith played the duet "Adoration," the number being one of the chief musical gems of the work. Rev. Samuel H. Jobe, assistant rector at St. Anne's, gave a short synopsis of the work and a corps of young men from St. Anne's church acted as ushers.

CHURCH SUPPER

Given By the Ladies' Benevolent Society of the First Congregational Church

The Ladies' Benevolent society of the First Congregational church gave their last supper and social of the season in the church vestry last evening. It was one of the most successful events on the church calendar. More than 200 plates were laid for supper and later in the evening a program of music and readings was provided by Mrs. Sherburne, Miss Agnes Parrish, Miss Mildred Chapman and Miss Helen Plack. Mrs. W. H. Connel, president of the society, was assisted by Mrs. Bean and Mrs. Melvin as matrons, and a large corps of members.

The regular monthly social and supper, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of St. Paul's church, was held in the church vestry last evening. The supper was served under the direction of the matrons Mrs. C. Richardson and Miss Florence Rowell, assisted by the ladies of the church whose names begin with the letters N, O, P and R. Supper was followed by an excellent entertainment, in charge of the church chorister, Mr. Peter Pichin, with Mrs. Garfield W. Horne, Mr. Donald Hanson and Mr. Pichin as soloists. Both's orchestra furnished the music.

Pawtucket Church

The supper and entertainment held at the Pawtucket church last evening was well attended. A one act sketch entitled "Much Too Sudden" was cleverly presented by the following ladies: Mrs. C. T. Hatch, Mrs. A. S. Parkes, Mrs. L. A. Ayer, Miss Cora Cummings, Miss Helen River, Miss Laura Bellamy and Miss Amelia Racicot. The supper was in charge of the Mystic Opera club, of which Walter Kellman is the chairman. The entertainment committee was in charge of Mrs. D. T. Hatch.

Mrs. Hoke Smith III
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Mrs. Hoke Smith, wife of the senator from Georgia, is seriously ill at her home here. She is suffering from a general breakdown following an unusually vigorous social season.

REAL BRITISH POET

Read From His Works

to Women's Club

Mr. Alfred Noyes, the English poet, and his poems constituted the attraction at the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon and the members were delighted with the poet and his poetry.

Mr. Noyes is a very modest man and does not indulge in eloquent effect. He has a very melodious voice, the kind that one could listen to for hours without tiring and his mannerisms are refreshingly simple. Mr. Noyes has been frequently mentioned as the probable future poet laureate of England and it was quite a treat to hear so famous a man read from his own works. The ordinary reader is probably not so well acquainted with his poems as with the work of other poets, but there is no doubt as to the poetic genius of the man. The poems read by him yesterday included "The Highwayman," "The Admiral's Ghost," "The Barrel Organ," "The Forty Singing Seamen," "Red of the Dawn," "The Origin of Life," written as an answer to the professor who asserted last year that the time was coming when it would be possible to construct a man in the laboratory; "Oxford Revisited," "In the Cool of the Evening," "The Dream Child's Invitation," the "Peace" poem, written in answer to the very common statement of upholders of militarism, that peace, with the luxury dependent upon it, is the corrupter of nations; and "The Creation."

After the reading there was a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Noyes in the reading room, and tea was served.

SKULL FRACTURED IN FALL

John Lacey Found Unconscious Last Night at the Corner of Andover and Fayette Streets

John Lacey, an employee of the C. I. Hood company, is at St. John's hospital suffering with a fractured skull incurred, as far as is known, in a fall late last night. He was found lying unconscious at the corner of Andover and Fayette streets shortly after 11 o'clock and was taken immediately to St. John's. This morning his condition was reported as improved by the physicians at the hospital.

Brush Fire at Billerica
Both the North Billerica and the Centre fire departments were called out yesterday to answer an alarm for a brush fire in the west part of the town, near Gillson hill. The blaze proved to be stubborn and the department was obliged to go back the second time to extinguish a blaze that had broken out. No serious damage was done.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. held a well attended meeting in the Gardner Parker hall yesterday afternoon. The routine business was transacted after which a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Mina Gardner presided at the meeting.

Coughs and Consumption
Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Tusculum, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I don't believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by A. W. Dowd & Co.

A LUCKY STRIKE

For the Men of Lowell

The garment workers' strike in New York, which was settled two weeks ago, delayed the manufacturers of Men's Clothing in making deliveries early enough for Easter trade—consequently merchants from different cities cancelled most of their High Grade Men's Suits not delivered by Easter. Our buyer while in New York Monday of this week saw an opportunity to make a killing with his coin and purchased, at about half price, three hundred of these cancelled suits that were made to retail for $20 and $25.

Now we say it was a lucky strike for the men of Lowell, and you will agree with us when you see these

MISSION AT ST. MARGARETS

Will Open on Sunday, April 20. Conducted by the Redeemptorist Fathers.
—Other Missions Drawing Crowds—

A two weeks' mission, the first we-
to the water to the women of the parish and the second to the men, is scheduled to open at St. Margaret's church in the Highlands on April 29 and will be conducted by the Redeemptorist Mission Fathers during the period of the mission. It is the intention of the fathers to hold a retreat for the children of the parish for a few days.

At a recent meeting of the members of St. Margaret's parish, Mr. James Storrison was chosen to act as general manager of the whilst party which has been arranged to take place in the hall
of the Highland club on Thursday April 25. Dennis Conney was elected chairman of the ladies' committee
which is to assist in the arrangements
of the same event.

The missions at St. Peter's and St. Patrick's churches continue to attract very large congregations at all of the services, morning and evening. The sermons by the preachers are instructive and eloquent to the high-degree.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

The Lowerran players are now in the final week of their engagement at the opera house and are presenting this week "The Confession," by James H. H. Field. "The Confession" uses as its theme a priest's duty to his church, versus his duty to his state, and no more absorbing tragedy has ever been conceived, or less on ever presented. Performances will be given every afternoon and evening this week.

BOSTON OPERA CO. STARS

The most ardent music lovers could hardly have selected a more delightful musical program than that which has been arranged for the engagement of the Boston Opera company artists at the Lowell Opera House, Thursday evening, April 10. Arias from several of the best known operas, such as La Boheme, Tosca, Madame Butterfly and Carmen, and a complete act in costume from Faust and also one in costume from Martha surely ought to satisfy about every variety of musical taste, and at the same time give a very fair idea of grand opera to the uninitiated. It is not often that the city outside of the grand opera centers have an opportunity of hearing grand opera, and even in the big centers, it is never heard at popular prices. But here not only is there to be an opportunity of hearing real grand opera at popular prices, but those who attend will gain a very real and lasting impression of the great art of the operatic numbers. It is even possible that the great sextette from Lucia will also be included in the program. This classic is perhaps the most familiar of all the operatic numbers, but the necessity of having six high class artists for its rendition has heretofore prevented it from being sung generally outside of the big opera houses. If this number is added an opportunity will be given of hearing Miss Evelyn Scott in Tetrazzini's greatest role, and it may be said that Miss Scott will not suffer any in comparison with the great prima donna.

Keith's Theatre

The success of the Edison talking motion picture, at the Keith Theatre, this week, is undoubtedly. Particularly good is the scene from Goethe's "Faust," in which the old man sells his soul to the devil for one year's taste of the joys of living. "The Telephone Girls" six brightly dressed, sing and dance their way into popular favor, and with them is Eddie Burke as comedian. Britt Woods, a comedian, handles a number of scenes in a superlatively good manner, and cracks an odd joke now and then. Organ and band create an sweeping wave of laughter, and Cortis & Florence project a funny skit called "The Chances." Other acts are those of Campbell and Marion, knockabout comedians; the Richards, head dancers; and Arthur, Nichols & Arthur, in a singing and dancing novelty. For all the remaining performances of the week may be secured at the box office. Phone 28.

The Playhouse

Of the many beautiful plays presented by The Drama Players at the Playhouse, none has given more complete satisfaction than "The Turning Point," the latest romantic comedy drama by Preston Gibson which is being produced this week. The piece is unusually clever, has many interesting points to it, all of which are brought out in a pleasing manner by the company engaged in its presentation.

"The Pirates of Penzance"

Friday night of the present week the fifth revival of a Gilbert & Sullivan opera, by the pupils of the Lowell high school will be given in school hall. A company of 75 persons, composed entirely of pupils of the school, will sing "The Pirates of Penzance," one of the most delightful of works in the lighter operatic milieu and one which has never failed to create a deal of honest interest. Probably Gilbert never waxed more alliterative than in some of his rhymes in "The Pirates," and to which Sullivan set a memorable measure. The advance sale for the three performances for the week will be repeated on Saturday night and on Wednesday night of next week—more than ordinarily large. Lovers of true comedy set to music that seethes with melody have now learned to look expectant for the high school revivals of these works. Mr. F. D. Blunt has trained principals and chorus for some months and the result will be a satisfactory, well acted and well sung performance. Miss Frances Leggat will have the part of "Mabel," the leading soprano role and Miss Thompson will have full opportunity to display her talents as the piratical maid of all work. The major general has been allotted to Harry Dutton, and J. H. Lacey will conclude with his sergeant of policemen. His squad of 12 early protectors of the law has been very carefully trained. The characters of the major general will be Misses Olga Lofgren, Anna McLaughlin and Anna Egan. Between the two Misses McLaughlin, Bridgell and Margaret will give dancers.

THE LOWELL DAY FUND

Mr. Spora of the King Clothing Co. reminds the Sun that part if not all of the money spent for free transportation on Lowell Day was contributed as far back as 1909 by a number of merchants and business people who raised altogether $1850. Mr. Spora believes that in order to make Lowell day a greater success next year, there should be a more general cooperation among the merchants so that preferential treatment may be offered, not only in bargains, but in transportation and some form of public entertainment such as a street parade, hand concert, or something to amuse the visitors for a certain part of the day.

MRS. EMERSON WRITES

Wants Examination of

LONDON, April 3.—A letter from Mrs. Emerson of Detroit was handed by Josiah Wedgwood, liberal member of parliament, to Reginald McKenna, the British home secretary today. It demanded permission for Mrs. Emerson's own physician to examine into the condition of her daughter, Miss Zelle Emerson, the militant suffragette, who is said to be suffering greatly from the method of forcible feeding employed by the officials since she started her hunger strike in Holloway jail, where she is undergoing two months' imprisonment for window breaking.

The United States embassy, according to Mrs. Emerson has promised, in the event of the failure of Secretary McKenna to comply with her request to place the matter before the British for-

sign office on the ground that the life of the prisoner is being endangered. A letter from another suffragette prisoner confined in the next cell to that of Zelle Emerson states that the release of the American woman within a few days is necessary in order to save her reason and perhaps her life. This fellow prisoner also asserts that Miss Emerson by giving her neighbor a portion of her food started her "hunger strike" 14 days before the prison doctors discovered her ruse. The writer of the letter who had not declared a hunger strike was able to dispose of the food.

PROFESSOR TAFT AT YALE — COLLEGIANS GREET EX-PRESIDENT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3.—Professor William H. Taft, ex-president of the United States, who is Kent professor in the Yale law school, got right down to business after his arrival by attending a Yale faculty meeting. He is staying at the Hotel Taft with his family. Professor Taft started his lectures in the law school and "laid down the law" to the students as he saw it. Ex-President Taft was welcomed to New Haven by 4,000 Yale students. With Mr. Taft were Mrs. Taft and his private secretary. The Yale boys gave a tremendous welcome cheer to the new Yale professor. Mr. and Mrs. Taft, accompanied by Secretary Stokes of the Yale corporation,

Dean Jones of the academic department and Dean Rogers of the law department, got into an automobile, which was quickly surrounded by a bodyguard of Yale athletes. With 4,000 students singing Yale songs behind the automobile and a band preceding it the march was taken up through the center of the town to the Yale campus.

VESSEL A TOTAL WRECK

CLINTON, April 3.—John E. Thayer of Lancaster and Boston received word from Nome, Alaska, yesterday announcing the loss of the vessel in which he sent an expedition into the Arctic three years ago, to secure specimens for his museum in South Lancaster and also material for Harvard university.

Capt. John Koren, the leader of the expedition, who sent the message, gave the further information that the vessel was a total wreck on the shores of Siberia, but that the material which the expedition had secured had been packed in Siberia and that the only loss sustained was the vessel.

The vessel left Tacoma, Wash., April 25, 1910, manned by Capt. Koren and three other white men, who were later reinforced by two Eskimos. The expedition, which was for the purpose of gathering zoological, botanical and natural history specimens in the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions, visited the Islands of Alaska, the Bering Sea and the Arctic ocean, including the Alaskan Islands, Norton Sound and Nunivak Island.

The members of the party, besides Capt. Koren, were First Mate Samuel Glaver, Engineer Arthur Nordahl and Rangwald Richards, a naturalist. Norwegians. No lives were lost.

MERRIMACK RIVER NAVIGATION

Former Congressman McNary

speaking on waterways at the banquet

of the board of trade and with particular reference to the navigation of the Merrimack river, dwell on the subject in a manner that showed the result of deep study and a mastery

of the details of the proposed project.

As one of the directors of the port of Boston, he is brought into contact with

movements that have for their object

at the present time a general utilization of the great waterways of the country for commercial purposes such as freight transportation. Because of this, his words carry unusual weight.

In considering his address with reference to the Merrimack river, it may be well to consider that one of the measures advocated by the present

government, and dwell on in frequent

public utterances since the election of President Wilson, is the greater development of the ports and waterways

of the whole country.

In opening, Mr. McNary called attention to the fact that though "the

Merrimack river has been under consideration by the United States government as a possible waterway for many years," in the early days it was always a question "whether a river

should be used for manufacturing or for navigation." As manufacturing had first choice and the right of way, no

consideration was given to the future

possibilities of waterway development

for the purpose of transportation. If railroad facilities were found ready to meet the outlets of trade at all points

and at reasonable rates, it is doubtful

if any agitation would have been started

towards utilizing the rivers, but

now the business leaders of the land,

and even the railroad directors themselves admit that the railroads are unable to handle the traffic of the country in a satisfactory manner. River development, therefore, has become a modern necessity, and though but lately considered on a large scale, it will be a large factor in the commercial

life of the future.

Having established the fact that river transportation is necessary, Mr.

McNary went into the question of rates as they would be affected by the new departure in freight transportation. The following statement is very significant: "It has been demonstrated

that the carriers on our great lakes

handle freight at one-eleventh the cost

that freight is handled by the railroads." He also said: "The saving

by the use of the Merrimack river from the sea to the Manchester line would amount to one million dollars a year."

He based these figures on the report

of an engineering commission acting for the federal government. As an illustration of the service secured by water navigation, he quoted Governor

Foss, who recently pointed out that though under present conditions, from

New England to the Pacific coast requires six weeks' time for railroad

transportation, the use of the Panama canal will reduce the period to three weeks. This will make possible a new era of prosperity for the manufacturers of this region who have been hampered by the difficulty of reaching the west in the past because of defective

and tardy freight transportation.

It will be remembered that many questions of the engineering difficulties connected with the project of making the Merrimack river navigable

were raised on former occasions when

the subject received local discussion.

Mr. McNary did not deal with this phase of the question beyond stating that the only real difficulty would be found at Lawrence. He mentioned the fact as far as Haverhill to be almost solved but had no information as to further expenditures. The cost, he said, could be easily met by an operation between the government and state. He urged a wide publicity campaign so that a favorable sentiment

could be created which would have a direct influence on the state legislature. In his own words: "It seems to me very important that the cities along

the Merrimack river work unceasingly

to create a sentiment for this work,

to the end that the legislature may take action to meet the United States government half way in the matter of assuming the cost of making the Merrimack river navigable. I think the legislature will see the importance of this undertaking when the situation is properly presented to it."

In almost all projects and discussions of national industrial advancement at the present time, speakers

and writers quote the example of Germany. Mr. McNary is no exception.

He stated that in that country all

their great rivers are trade highways

and so satisfying are conditions that the use of them for the purpose is increasing. The speaker summed up the whole argument of those who favor the navigation of the Merrimack

river when he said: "It is an absurdity

that coal should be brought here in railroad cars and that cotton should be carried on railroad tracks when the possibility of water navigation is present."

While it is evident that an expenditure such as the proposed plan would entail should be undertaken only after deep and careful consideration had been given the outlay, the favorable

opinion of men such as Mr. McNary

who are qualified to speak advisedly

on the matter will give the movement

a great impetus, and such expert

opinion is worth a thousand empty

conjectures. There are many among us who believe that the navigation of the Merrimack would mean the greatest step forward that Lowell has had since its foundation.

THE RAILROAD REPORT

It is a most significant fact that

about three hundred members of the Boston chamber of commerce, representing the leading business men of that city, voted unanimously to accept

the report of the directors of that body

as to the railroad situation and recommendations for its improvement.

When we consider that the report was conservative, conciliating, and against any of the radical measures which we have heard proposed for some time,

as to legislation and state control,

such a unanimous approval marks an entire change of policy in a most emphatic manner. The measures advocated cannot be very disagreeable to the

railroads or difficult of fulfillment,

and the stand of the Boston body may be taken to be fairly representative of the attitude of the business opinion of Massachusetts, or in a greater measure of New England. It is a matter for mutual congratulation that the useless

and pernicious antagonism shown towards railroad management in this region is to be abandoned, and a more healthy spirit substituted.

The chamber of commerce report

also points out indirectly the advantages of business organizations in aiming at solutions of existing evils. Although the legislature is the final logical body from which to seek redress, the fact holds true that no one knows the problems of the business man better than those who are engaged in business and interested in its problems. Because of a diversity of occupations and ideas united in mutual

good will, men such as those in the Boston chamber of commerce are well

qualified to suggest means that will be of lasting benefit to them all and to the entire community which is largely dependent on their success. If their recommendations are to be effective,

however, they must meet with general

approval and support, and it is certain that public opinion will back the Boston organization in its present attitude. If the recommendations will now be put into effect and supported by action, a great change for the better must soon be apparent to all.

THE LOWELL HABIT

Occasional celebrations such as the Lowell day observance are good only in so far as they outline and suggest

our actions for every day of the year.

The lessons of loyalty and civic pride

emphasized by the board of trade may be speedily forgotten, but a habit once

formed is always remembered and practiced almost unconsciously. The important thing then is to speak well

of Lowell and patronize its industries,

but for one day only, but to put the lessons taught by April 1st into practice until the commemoration will come around again. If most of our citizens did this, each successive April

1st would find the city growing in size,

beauty, and importance, and what benefits any city will ultimately benefit

all its people. The Lowell habit is a habit that pays.

WILLIAM D. HAYWOOD

In some sections of the country William D. Haywood is not given very much opportunity to stir things up

as he did here in the neighboring cities

and in a slighter degree in Lowell.

He has just been sentenced to six months in prison in Paterson, New Jersey, for disorderly conduct and unlawful assemblage. His fame had preceded him and the authorities were vigilant, with disastrous consequences

to William. As the terms of his sentence will include hard labor for ten

hours a day, he will have a chance

when he comes out to speak from personal experience on the woes and hardships of the working class to which he professes such loyalty.

"MANCHESTER UNION"

Congratulations to our esteemed contemporary the "Manchester Union"

on its fifteenth anniversary, and on the splendid commemorative edition issued. In size, subject matter and arrangement it is a splendid example of modern newspaper achievement. It is a worthy product of the energy and ability which has made the "Union" a large factor in the growth of Manchester in extent and importance during the past fifty years. May the centen-nary edition be as worthy of the commemoration and as warmly received.

Seen and Heard

There are quite a number of fellows

knocking around who are foolish, but not quite ripe enough for the asylum.

They do tell that the jaunty janitor

at city hall has received a "few words

of kindness" from the Pine Tree state.

There ought to be a law providing for an old-fashioned well or pump in every lodging and boardinghouse as an auxiliary to the modern water supply system.

If the smoke inspector would care to get a line on the chimneys that contribute to the smoke nuisance in Lowell

he can do so by taking the elevator to

the tenth floor of the Sun building and he will be welcome, too.

Why is it when two streets are torn up by a city department that the department will have the greatest number of men where traffic is lightest

instead of putting the "big gang" on the busy street in order to close the job as quickly as possible?

A young lady who called at The Sun

office yesterday carried a beautiful

bunch of trailing arbutus, and we really envied the dear girl for it is generally conceded that the trailing arbutus

or May flower is the sweetest blossom

and has the spiciest of fragrance of any of the early comers and sometimes

we think there is nothing to match it

at any time of the year. The young lady told us that she gathered the pretty blossoms in Amherst, N. H., and it is rarely, she informed us, that they are found so early.

The slaughter of birds, says the Detroit Free Press, has for years been a disgrace. It is a flight of fancy to say that the country is reaping in the loss of its crops the result of the error it has wrought. Now it has decided to repair its error. But get the law into effect as soon as possible.

It will be difficult of enforcement, but it can be enforced. Even this will not wholly obliterate the menace of the snare. There is still another move to make an international pact whereby

Canada to the north of us and Mexico

to the south of us will engage to cooperate with the United States through international agreement for the protection of useful bird life. This sort of agreement is already in force

throughout the greater portion of Europe. Nations which have been unable to settle their strictly political differences by treaty for the preservation

George Mullin, the Detroit twirler, is of the opinion that it is a physical impossibility to invent another curve ball. This is undoubtedly a fact for it is inconceivable how a variation could be effected with a baseball other than modern pitchers are now equipped with. If the game is to be developed into a higher plane than it rests on today it will have to be in the hitting and base-running angle.

The New England League will procure at least two of the recruits which have been decided by the Red Sox. According to the dispatch, Walsh, Fall River's last year's outfielder, will report to Worcester and Carlstrom will be back again in a Lawrence uniform. The Springfield club also has a claim to Carlstrom but will take Tim's version of the transfer.

Carlstrom made a very good impression upon Manager Stahl but his playing lacked the necessary experience to make him a valuable man for a big league club. He was sold by Lawrence to the Springfield club, but is certainly a promising player. The Springfield club also has a claim to Carlstrom but will take Tim's version of the transfer.

Pitcher Aycock of the North Carolina College team is the first club artist to catch a no-hit game in the season of 1912. This player, a Trinity College without a semblance of a hit for nine full innings and walked away with the game in his kit. Several of the scouts for the big leagues are already looking him over with an eye to shipping a contract by him.

Manchester looks to be in a fair way to grab off the New England League team yet. Although disappointed in their attempt to get the Fall River franchise they are now out with in-

GARFIELD POST MEETING MRS. CLARK DECLINES

Paid Tribute to the Late Col. Ripley Welcome Breakfast

The regular business session of the James A. Garfield Post, 120 G. A. R., took place last night in the hall of the organization with Commander Thomas Keegan presiding. A fitting tribute was paid the late brother and post commander, Royal S. Ripley of North Chatham, by Commander Boies and others.

During the session a large amount of business of a routine character was transacted by the members. A letter from the Memorial Day committee of Tynghoro was read inviting the post to join with them in decorating comrades' graves on May 30. The action in this matter was postponed for one week. The investigating committee was given two applications to report upon at the next meeting.

One of the features of the evening was a reading by the corporal, entitled "Weeds of the Army," and this was enjoyed by all. There were several other pleasing numbers and during the meeting remarks were made by the officers and members.

B. F. Butler Relief Corps
Members of B. F. Butler Woman's Relief Corps No. 75, met in regular session in Memorial hall and transacted considerable routine business of importance. At the opening of the meeting the recently chosen vice president of Middlesex county division, Miss Lizzie W. Wootton, was presented and addressed her sister members.

Lowell Corps No. 25 bears the distinction of having contributed two of the chief officers of the county in Miss Wootton, county vice president, and Emma J. O'Brien, chairman of the auditing committee. The relief corps voted to do its share toward assisting the flood sufferers if called upon. Arrangements were completed for representation at the department convention in Boston on April 5 and 6.

Industry Council, B. A.
An interesting session of Industry Council, Royal Arcanum, was held last evening in Odd Fellows hall with Regent M. J. Sullivan in the chair. Numerous important matters were discussed. The report of the committee in charge of the whist tournament reported all arrangements complete for the event. After last night's meeting, a whist competition was held and enjoyed by a large number. The session closed after a social hour and smoke talk.

Elgin Lodge, N. E. O. P.
The regular meeting of Elgin Lodge, N. E. O. P., will be held this evening in Veritas hall in Branch street and a large attendance is urged. Visitors are expected and a rehearsal of the degree team will be held.

L. A. N. BARACA CLASS
Held Minister Show at Odd Fellows Hall, Centralville, Last Evening—Great Success

Odd Fellows hall, Centralville, was the scene last evening of a very clever entertainment by the L. A. N. Baraca class. It was down on the program a bit of "modern minstrelsy" and whatever it was very good. The sketch presented was entitled "Shobron's Star Party" and it was full of fun and comedy.

A minstrel first part was the closing feature of the evening and it was all to the merry. The men made a lot of funny faces and about all of their jokes and songs were new. They displayed great cleverness and were greatly enjoyed.

The same entertainment will be repeated tonight. The committee in charge consists of P. Leslie Miles, chairman; Kenneth Slipp and Grant Jasper.

LEADERS OF STRONGEST TEAMS IN EACH BIG LEAGUE—WHO WILL BE THE SUCCESSFUL ONE?

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—With the opening of the baseball season at hand the fans have sidetracked everything else to discuss the chances of their favorites. The all absorbing topic at present is, Who will be the successful pilots in the American and National leagues? The majority of experts in the parent baseball organization pick Johnny McGraw of New York to make it three straight. Local critics believe Fred Clarke will lead the Pirates pennantward. Chicago scribbles think Johnny Evers and his Cubs will capture the banner. In the American league the majority of the experts declare Jake Stahl and his Boston Red Sox will again take part in a world's

Democratic Members of House Committee Met

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The democratic members of the house committee on ways and means reassembled today at what was expected to be the final meeting before the tariff revision bill is laid before the democratic caucus next Tuesday.

With the points of difference between President Wilson and the committee settled by an agreement on free wool, the interest shifted to a large extent to free sugar and to the details of the income tax plan. Members of the committee were prepared to receive

If You Wanted to Keep a Loaf of Bread—You Wouldn't Cut it in Slices.

The moisture of the bread would evaporate, leaving it dry and hard.

It's the same with Tobacco, some manufacturers chop the "plug" into slices, flakes or crumbs. Naturally this granulated tobacco gets dry—that's why it bites your tongue.

If you want to smoke real tobacco—with all its original flavor, sweetness and fragrance—buy Master Workman Plug Tobacco. All the goodness of the moist leaf is squeezed into the plug and protected from the drying air by a natural leaf wrapper.

That's why Master Workman Tobacco keeps fresh and smokes cool. It can't bite your tongue. Just whittle off a fresh pipe load. You'll find it the coolest, sweetest, most fragrant smoke you ever had—Buy a plug today.

BOTH IN GOOD SHAPE, LOWELL MEN DEFEATED Gallant and Dohan Are Arlington Car Men Won by Four Pins

Lowell fight fans await with great expectation the tap of the gong that will send the lightweight contenders Johnny Dohan of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea, on their 12-round journey tomorrow night at the rooms of the Lowell A. C. Matchmaker, Dohan stated that he believed that tomorrow night's bouts will prove the best show of the season and it is certain that the fans are showing more interest in the Dohan-Gallant meeting than any decided at the club this season. Dohan does not figure on any easy picking with the Chelsea lightweight and the Brooklyn boy has been trained to be the best condition of his life. The winner has been promised a meeting with Marty Baldwin in the event of which the lightweight championship of New England would be very close to being involved. Dohan, of course, is not a New Englander but he would relish the chance to face the Bunker Hill "Bear Cat" and will strive for all that he is worth to make his opponent the most possible. There does not appear to be any doubt in Dohan's mind about his winning as he feels sure that he can take the measure of the Chelsea lightweight.

It is natural that Gallant should feel the same way and with both men in the aforementioned frame of mind, Lowell fans appear to be in for a red letter night of boxing. Next to the feature contest the most final between Johnny Cooper the ex-amateur national featherweight champion and Young Morgan of Manchester is exciting more than a passing interest. Morgan is a warm favorite with Lowell fans but his star promises to set when he faces the clever and hard hitting ex-amateur boxer, Cooper. With two other preliminaries to warm the men up in order to the feature matches some sterling boxing should be on tap tomorrow night.

Chandler Injured
Chandler, the Harvard high jumper, pulled a tendon in practice at Soldiers Field yesterday. This athlete is some jumper and, if in shape, can win points in any meet for the Crimson track team. Chandler has competed against the local high school team on several occasions when a member of the Brookline high team. He and Johnstone, another Harvard jumper, were the country today, both took a defeat here a few years ago.

Burns and Pelky
CALGARY, Alberta, April 3.—Tommy Burns, former heavyweight champion of the world, and Arthur Pelky of Chicopee, Mass., fought six fast rounds here last night. It was a no decision affair. Burns scored three knockdowns and was himself floored once but was on his feet instantly and continued his rushing tactics. It was a hard fought battle throughout.

Cannot Talk to Child
Man Separated From His Daughter 10 Years

BOSTON, April 3.—On board the Re Star Line steamship Manitou, which reached port yesterday, two days' layover from Antwerp, were Alexander Hank and his 11-year-old daughter Wanda, who were on their way to Scituate, Penn. The child has been separated from her father for ten years. She had learned to talk in a language which the father could not understand.

Ten years ago Alexander Hank left his wife and several children left their home in Poland for this country. The wife went to Antwerp to embark, and after the exhausting physical journey, she was last night tendered a farewell reception by the members of his flock. The affair was held in the vestry of the church and very largely attended.

Tendered Reception
Rev. F. E. Carver, retiring pastor of the Hillside church in Des Moines, was last night tendered a farewell reception by the members of his flock. The affair was held in the vestry of the church and very largely attended.

Daniel Kane, an employee of the Saco-Lowell shops, living at 7 Richmond street, received a very painful cut on his left wrist yesterday while at work. Three stitches were required to close the wound. The ambulance was called and the injured man was removed to the Lowell hospital.

Panama Canal Tolls
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Indication in the growing popular interest in the settlement of the Panama canal tolls controversy is found in the fact that with a single exception every subject set down for discussion at the very first annual meeting here of the American Association for International Law, April 6, relates directly to that problem. Some of the most noted lawyers in the land are expected to address themselves to it and it is expected that the great weight of legal heavy artillery will be trained against the policy.

The meeting will conclude with a banquet on the evening of April 26, which will be addressed by men of legal prominence of the United States and other countries.

N. E. Southern Conference
NEW BEDFORD, April 3.—The third day's session of the New England Southern conference opened today in the Pleasant street Methodist Episcopal church here. The business of the morning included the reading of the reports of the district superintendents, including those of Rev. Andrew J. Coulter, superintendent of the New Bedford district and Rev. John Newland, superintendent of the Norwalk district. At two o'clock this afternoon Rev. J. Francis Cooper presided at the anniversary of the board of deacons of the church, which was held at the D. Governors Will Attend
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Governors from nine states have signified their intention of being present at the 16th conference for education in the south which meets at Richmond, Va., April 15. The arrangements were made by A. P. Boardman, executive secretary of the conference, who said the states whose governors would attend were Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. The conference will devote most of its time to the consideration of improving rural conditions in south.

State Inspection

An Agreement Reached Last Night

Pres. Wilson to Give Matter More Study—President and Members of Ways and Means Committee Confer

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Removal of all tariff from raw wool has been agreed upon between President Wilson and the members of the house committee on ways and means, as the result of conferences that ended last night.

The present plan, which will have the unanimous endorsement of the democratic members of the committee provides that wool shall be placed on the free list, and for which the free wool democrats of the house have fought for two years.

With the work of the house ways and means committee before him and the extra session of congress only a few days off, the president had proceeded deep enough in his study of the tariff bill to realize that before the democratic caucus meets there will be many points upon which he himself must take a definite stand. It was admitted at the White House that he would do so "in a day or two."

It was declared that the president had not finally made up his mind as to whether the tariff should be revised by schedule or in a single bill, whether sugar should be put on the free list or given a reasonable amount of protection, and whether the income tax should be by a flat rate or graduated. These and kindred questions the president had not yet decided absolutely, but from what he told his callers yesterday there was a well-defined impression of his inclinations.

The president leans strongly to revision by a single bill. He thinks the income tax question can only be decided after an agreement has been made upon tariff rates, and he believed that sugar should be put on the free list, but is open to conviction on that point.

The president has been hearing arguments that people in Louisiana could readjust their business to meet the new conditions imposed by the removal of the tariff on sugar.

Col. Robert Ewing, national committeeman from Louisiana, has been presented the other side of the question,
and when he left the White House
Tuesday he had laid the case in full before Mr. Wilson.

Following upon his conference Tuesday night with Mr. Underwood, the first thing the president did yesterday was to send for Col. Ewing. He canvassed
the possibility of giving a common agreement on the sugar question.

The Louisiana National committee-man told the president that the busi-

Storm of Fort Tarabosch at Sutari

CEITINJE, April 3.—520 p. m.— Great Tarabosch Fort, which for months has held the allies of Sutari.

Members of the ways and means committee, after an all-day session
yesterday, met in perfecting tariff bill
details, declared there was no substantial differences of opinion between the committee and the president over the duty to be imposed on farm products.
The committee has cut the agricultural duties over 50 per cent. in the new bill. While President Wilson is understood to favor a further cut in some of them, members of the committee declared last night that a complete agreement would be reached with the president without difficulty.

A HAIRBREADTH ESCAPE

Miss Monahan Struck by Freight at Dover

DOVER, N. H., April 3.—A hair-breadth escape from death by Miss Annie Monahan, 26, of Brookline,
Mass., was witnessed by about 200
persons at the Boston & Maine station
here yesterday.

Miss Monahan started to cross the outbound track while the express for Boston was pulling in, on the second track, and in doing so, was knocked down by freight cars being shunted
past the station platform.

The noise of the express, which she was intending to board, prevented her from noticing the freight cars, but the shouts of bystanders caused her to turn back.

She was sent rolling along the track
in front of the trucks, protecting iron
of the brake beam pushing her along.
Men rushed to her and dragged her from the rail. When the freight cars stopped the forward wheel was on the heel of her shoe.

A stretcher was brought, but Miss Monahan got up and was assisted to Agent Berry's office. Deputy Medical Referee Tolman, who had been summoned with the news that a woman
had been killed, was surprised to find
Miss Monahan only slightly hurt.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

200 DIE IN WILD DASH

is now practically in the hands of the Montenegrins, thanks to the sacrifice of 200 bomb throwers, every one of whom lost his life in a last desperate effort to clear the way to the town,
for the possession of which Montenegro is ready to give up everything.

These bomb throwers were all picked men, chosen from several battalions. Clambering up the mountain side under a murderous fire from the Turkish guns, they cut the wire entanglements, and getting to close quarters threw bombs among the Turks,

thus opening the way for the storming party.

Not one of the bomb throwers returned, but they had accomplished
their object and the Montenegrin infantry, following close upon them,
charged the trenches.

The Turks held their ground and a hand-to-hand fight ensued, lasting an hour and ending in victory for the Montenegrins, who lost 300 men killed and wounded. Their armor of entrenchments had to be taken.

The tactics followed, particularly in
